

Makhan Shah Finds The True Guru

There once was a rich trader named Makhan Shah. He was sailing in the ocean and an enormous storm broke out. There was heavy rain with thunder and lightning. The waves were so strong that his boat would have sunk.

Makhan Shah prayed to Waheguru Ji truly from his heart: "Oh Lord! Please save me from this storm. I shall donate 500 gold coins to the Guru if by His Grace I land safely."

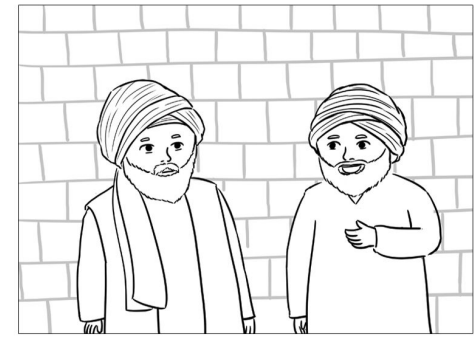

Just then, a miracle happened! The storm stopped and the ocean became calm.

When Makhan Shah reached safely, he began to search for the Guru. Then, a Sikh told him, Sri Guru Harkrishan Ji didn't appoint any specific person but only said "Baba Bakala" while leaving for the heavenly abode.

When Makhan Shah arrived at Bakala to find the True Guru, he saw there were many men with followers claiming to be the Guru.

A villager told him there were many pretenders who claimed to be the True Guru. The people didn't know who the True Guru was. Makhan Shah came up with a plan.

Makhan Shah Finds The True Guru

He visited everyone who claimed to be the Guru and offered 2 gold coins to each of them. They would pretend to bless him and he would leave. This happened for many days and none of them questioned Makhan Shah about his vow to offer 500 gold coins.

He asked everyone if there was any other Holy Man left. He explained that none of these men were the True Guru.

One of the villagers then told Makhan Shah that there was one more Holy Man who remained at home and meditated. He was one of the sons of Sri Guru Hargobind Ji, whose name was Tegh Bahadur Ji. Makhan Shah decided to visit this Holy Man.

When Makhan Shah went to see Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur Ji, he bowed down and offered two gold coins. Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur Ji immediately asked, "When you were in need, you promised me 500 gold coins. Now that you are safe, you want to get away with only giving me two coins?"

Makhan Shah became very excited. "Here is your other gold. I was just trying to find out who the True Guru was." "You saved me Guru Ji, I am at your service."

Makhan Shah ran to the rooftop and began shouting, "Guru Ladho Re! I have found the Guru!" Makhan Shah found the True Guru.
